Special Reports - Technical Information

A special report is to be produced under the following guidelines:

- Up to 2000 words per report
- One main image, landscape
- One image of your logo
- Contact details of author including, name, organisation, e-mail and web address and phone number

The purpose of the reports are to be informative to the reader, they can be used to:

- Highlight current news
- Lobby on policy and other issues
- Highlight current research practices and focus areas

The screenshot shows a web page for a special report. At the top, there is a navigation bar with categories like 'RESEARCH & DISCOVERY', 'SUSTAINABLE PLANET', 'DIGITAL INNOVATION', 'SPACE', and 'HEALTH INNOVATION'. The main article title is 'Battery calorimetry: an innovative approach for ageing studies', dated 20th May 2020. Below the title are social media share icons. The article contains two line graphs, Fig. 1a and Fig. 1b, which plot temperature in degrees Celsius against time in minutes. Fig. 1a shows isoperibolic measurements at 25°C, and Fig. 1b shows quasidilatatic measurements starting at 25°C. The graphs compare different cycling and storage conditions for G1 and G2 cells. To the right of the article, there are sections for 'FEATURED TOPICS' (Battery Calorimetry), 'LATEST EBOOKS' (Cybersecurity during COVID-19, A new era of smarter, cleaner mobility), and 'LATEST PARTNERS' (Nordic Radar Solutions, Promoting research and development in flood science).
